

have revolted and assassinated General Carranza, sympathizers along the border are reported to have fired on a train of the Southern Pacific railroad at El Paso, Tex.

The War Department has no confirmation of the report of the blowing up of an American troop train near Machita, N. M., and newspaper dispatches carry no further details.

What effect the unwillingness of army officials on the border to entertain proposals for a delay of the expedition will have on the attitude of the Carranzistas is a matter of considerable speculation. Both the State and War Departments claim not to have received any official requests for a postponement, but private advice from well placed sources indicates that the Carranzistas are making a suggestion that the Carranza forces in northern Mexico be given two weeks time in which to capture Villa, he declared that he was without power to agree to such a plan.

Roberto Fiquiera, Carranza's confidential envoy, is reported to have left Douglas, Ariz., for Washington with an urgent message to President Wilson from General Carranza.

Plans for the expedition are understood to have been completed yesterday. The sudden cessation of movements of troops and supply trains along the border is accepted here as an indication that all is in readiness for whatever may develop.

Announcement Due.

Announcement is expected from General Funston today regarding reassignment of border patrols. Citizens of Arizona are especially fearful of raids.

At Nogales and Agua Prieta, Carranzista guerrillas are reported with drawn in the pursuit of Villa, leaving the Arizona border free to operations of small outlaws bands which recently have raided American ranches.

While General Pershing's main command is believed to be striking south from Columbus, N. M., departures from other branch expeditions from El Paso and Douglas, Ariz., is doubtful. It is thought probable that the Carranzistas are not yet ready to meet for several days, the Carranza troops converging from the east and west and performing the dramatic duty which was originally planned for the United States auxiliary expeditions.

Formal reply is expected today from General Carranza, sealing the reciprocity pact with the State Department for troop movements. Officials would not venture a prediction whether Carranza would suggest a brief respite in United States operations to give the Carranzistas time to attempt Villa's capture alone.

2,500 TRAINED DOGS WITH GERMAN ARMY

Seek Out the Wounded Men,
Whom They Can Distinguish
From the Dead.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The 2,500 trained dogs of war doing hospital service in the German army make no distinction between friend and foe when on their search for wounded soldiers left on the field, according to official reports regarding their activities printed in the North German Gazette.

These reports emphasize the good work of the "sanitätsunde" in distinguishing between dead and wounded men, and point with pride to the fact that the German dogs have not been taught to avoid the enemy wounded, as it is charged the Belgian Red Cross dogs have been trained.

At a recent meeting of the German Society for Hospital Dogs held in the Hotel Bristol in Berlin, the Grand Duke of Oldenburg, the head of the society, described how the service had been begun with eight dogs shortly after the outbreak of the war and estimated that up to date at least 2,000 wounded men had been picked up on the battle field through the aid of the war dogs.

Soldiers Build Hospital For Dogs.
Since this meeting it has been announced that convalescent soldiers at Jena have built a special hospital in which wounded war dogs are being treated. Among the official bodies represented at the Berlin gathering were the war ministries of Prussia and Wurtemberg, the field hospital service on the eastern front, the general quartermaster's department, the Prussian and Saxon ministries of the interior, and the Berlin police department.

The dogs are trained to take along some sort of an object to show that they have found a wounded man, but in many cases there is nothing on the ground which they can tear loose. This problem the dogs have solved for themselves by digging up a piece of sod or biting off a twig and bringing these evidences of their discovery to their guides.

Misunderstood By Russians.
Sometimes the fallen soldiers of the hostile armies fail to recognize the peaceful mission of the "sanitätsunde" and try to drive them away, as is shown by the following excerpt from the report of a commander of a field hospital company:

"All the Germans had been picked up, but there were still a great many wounded Russians scattered over the field, most of them hidden in the long grasses. The dogs began their work with the greatest assurance, but it was soon noticed that the Russians, consequently, before the day was over, three of our dogs refused to approach the wounded Russians. That day, with the aid of the dogs, we saved twenty-one wounded Russians."

Fatal Malady.
Palestine, Tex., Jan. 23.—A man named B— was brought to this city Saturday afternoon and taken to the sanitarium in a critical condition, the result of being shot. He was accompanied by Dr. S—, of C—.—San Antonio Express.

Witness These Letters
Mrs. I. D. Hayes, 1837 Druid Hill Ave., Baltimore Md., writes: "Peruna is one of the best remedies for grip, cold in the head, sore throat, nervous headaches and coughs that has ever been discovered. After the use of one bottle in my family, I don't feel safe without Peruna in my house."

In a later letter Mrs. Hayes says: "I am never without a bottle of Peruna in my house. I give the children Peruna if they have a cold, and it always relieves them. I had catarrhal bronchitis and it relieved me."

Mr. C. O. Peterson, Lieut. Engine Co. No. 56, No. 3327 N. Hamilton, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Last year I had a severe attack of grippe, which left me very weak, so that I was unable to perform my duties. Several of my friends advised me to build up on Peruna, and I found it by far the finest tonic and invigorator I had ever used. In two weeks I was strong and well, and if ever I am exposed to unusual hardship incident with my duties at fire, I take a dose or two of Peruna and find that it keeps me in good health."

A dose of Peruna now and then is a wonderful protection against contagious diseases.

Mrs. Mary O. Miller, Chaplain of Patriotic Daughters of America, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I have found Peruna of especial benefit in cases of irregularity and weakness. It restores the strength in a very short time and is pleasant to take. Its action on the whole system is very mild, but sure. We have used it in the family for a number of years, and when any of us take a cold it is the first remedy we take, and a few doses will generally cure, if the cold has not been neglected. But the persistent use of Peruna will cure a cold of even long standing."

GERMANS TO MAKE BEER FROM TURNIPS

Munich Is Enthusiastic Over
Discovery of Chemical Beverage.

BERLIN via Amsterdam, March 15.—The people of Munich have been dreading for months the growing prospect of having their town converted from the foremost beer city into a beerless one because of the scarcity of the necessary ingredients for the amber fluid.

But they were "overjoyed" a few days ago by the announcement in the Muenchener Neueste Nachrichten that a substitute has been found.

The inventor of the "chemical beer" is Prof. Heinrich Kralchheimer of the Bavarian Ministry of Agriculture. The paper says of the new liquor:

"This new beverage rivals in strength, flavor and stimulating properties the best Spaten or Loewen brews. It is a sparkling liquid of a light amber color, the taste of which has given us an insatiable appetite for more and still more."

Moreover, the ingredients, the nature of which is of course kept secret, but the principal of which is obtained by a process of distillation from turnips, are so simple and so easily found that the new beer can be sold at less than a third of the cost of the ordinary product in normal peace time.

Vienna Says Allies Attack Unarmed Ships
BERLIN (via wireless to Sayville), March 15.—The Hungarian passenger-carrying ship Daniel Bzso and Zagreb were attacked without warning by allied submarines on February 13 and 23, near Cape Planka, according to dispatches received here today from Vienna.

They escaped destruction by clever maneuvering. Like all Austro-Hungarian merchantmen, they were unarmed, the dispatches said.

The Austrian embassy sent a report of the alleged attacks to the State Department today to put the Austrian government on record as alleging that allied submarines are violating the rules of naval warfare demanded by the United States.

PICTURE HUNG UPSIDE DOWN PUZZLES MANY

Painting Had Been Mistaken by Experts for an Effort at Futurism at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 15.—George Bellows, former Columbus painter and now one of the leading lights of artistic New York, has been known for a long while as a decidedly vigorous realist.

No one thought he was futuristic in tendency. This, however, must have been the thought of a hanging committee of an exhibition in C-nd Rapids recently, for it hung one of his pictures upside down and left it that way for three weeks.

Two artists of wide repute, Mathias Allen, of Grand Rapids, and Will Howe Poole, of Old Lyme, Conn., went to the gallery to explain the picture to some one who had admitted that its message somewhat puzzled them. They declared that they got some of its motifs, but that others got them. The experts expatiated on the work at length. It was modern in treatment they declared, curious but interesting.

Finally a woman—one of that kind who always tries to get anything out of her way that bothers her—came into the gallery and walked straight up to somebody in authority.

"What's the matter with that picture?" she asked. "It gives me a headache. Turn it upside down."

After much protest the experiment was tried.

The black mass of color, which some had been trying to read as a thunder cloud on a blue sky, became a perfectly innocuous rock in still blue waters. The white specks that had caused more than one inept critic to sweat cold sweats, became tiny ships. The whole thing was made awfully simple whereas before it had been simply—but there! That would be a naughty slap at futurism.

War-Spirit Explained.
"Look here, my friend, what on earth are you waiting for? You've been standing here for an hour in the pouring rain."

"I'm waiting for a car."

"But at least five have just gone by."

"Yes, but not the one with the pretty conductor!"—Ulk (Berlin).

Austrian Envoy Is Called From Lisbon

Geneva Hears Diplomatic Relations Have Been Broken
With Portugal.

AMSTERDAM, March 15.—Austria has broken off diplomatic relations with Portugal, a Vienna message announced today.

ROME, March 15.—Austria has declared war on Portugal, according to dispatches received here.

GENEVA, March 15.—Austria has recalled her minister to Lisbon and has handed the Portuguese ministry his passports, according to dispatches received here today.

It is not yet known whether the breaking off of diplomatic relations will be followed by a declaration of war. Portuguese naval authorities confiscated several Austrian ships in Portuguese ports at the same time they seized German merchantmen, an act that resulted in a declaration of war by Germany.

Can't Live to Use Legacy Of $400,000, Doctors Say
KANE, Pa., March 15.—That Keith E. Dalrymple will not live many days to enjoy the fortune of more than $400,000 which is to be turned over to him as a result of his arrival at Port Allegany Monday, is the opinion of Port Allegany physicians.

The disease from which he was suffering when found in a Southern hospital is advanced so far that no hope is entertained for a cure.

Mrs. Mary Dalrymple, the first wife of the late Hugh Dalrymple, will arrive at Olean today. Her verification that the youth is really the missing heir, will rob her two children of the large fortune which she has been looking forward to for the last few years. Dalrymple went to Olean yesterday.

1,500 Years, to the Time of King Constantine.

ABILENE, Kans., March 15.—The passing of their sixtieth year of wedded life was quietly celebrated recently by Mr. and Mrs. Mason Seelye, of this city, when a few of the children gathered for the occasion. The illness of Mr. Seelye prevented any elaborate celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Seelye are, respectively, eighty-six and seventy-eight years of age, and in his illness he is cared for wholly by his wife.

They came to Kansas in 1866, locating in Marshall county, and for thirty-four years underwent the hardships of a pioneer and homesteader's life. Retiring they came to Abilene in 1890, and have resided here since. Mr. Seelye, who is a giant of a man, has only been in failing health the past two years.

Mrs. Seelye is exceptionally active and alert for a woman of her age. Of a family of five children, all are living.

Mr. Seelye takes great pride in his genealogical record, which he traces back 1,500 years, to the time of Constantine of France.

Amputates His Own Foot; Pocketknife Saves Life
REDWOOD CITY, March 15.—An amputating his left foot with a pocketknife, L. H. Beck, of Berkeley, saved himself from being drawn to death in the machinery of a dredger on which he was operating.

Not once did Beck cry out, say those who were working on the dredger. He directed the binding of the severed arteries and then ordered a launch to take him to Dumbarton bridge, where he was transferred to a handcar in charge of a section gang.

Although terribly weakened from loss of blood, Beck did not lose consciousness once during the hour, but into Redwood. He was taken to the Haller Hospital, where physicians expressed amazement at his wonderful grit.
